

Join Us in a Celebration of Giving Back

As we approach the holiday season, let's donate the precious gift of time. Join us for a day of generosity, and help us serve the communities that give us so much.

Vicki Oberkrom, your Community Relations Manager at Biogen, invites you to join members of the Kansas City area hemophilia community for a day of giving back to the people and places where we work, play and live during this season of giving.

As a company committed to empowering people affected by hemophilia, Biogen is proud to organize the Our TIME to Give Back initiative. This volunteer event will provide an opportunity to give back alongside others in the hemophilia community.
